This is how the post will look like when the user only enters a tile and text with no image.
Username
Post Date Created
Tile of post will show here
Text of post will show up here
When you click on the delete button a modal will pop up asking if you are sure you want to delete the post.
if you click the Ok button the post will be deleted and the state will be updated without a hard refresh.
If you click cancel the modal will just close.
When you click on the edit button a modal will pop up with data of the post auto populated.

-The the current logged in user has liked a post of a user that they are already following the follow button will not show.
-The hearts in the like page will be fill with a color to indicate the like
If you have hearted a post but the owner of the post you hearted is following you and you are not following them the text on the follow button would be "FollowBack"
